"HUMAN RELATION MANAGEMENT"

College has organized an Add on course of "Human Relation Management". Dated 12th December 2018 Wednesday to 20th December 2018 Thursday at 11.00am at auditorium.

Human Relations Management is an important field that focuses on creating a positive and productive work environment. This field emphasizes the relationship between employees and management, and how it affects the overall success of an organization.

In a college setting, an add-on course on Human Relations Management can be highly beneficial for students. The course can provide students with an understanding of the importance of effective communication, teamwork, and conflict resolution in a work environment. It can also help students develop skills in leadership, decision-making, and problem-solving.

In addition, students can learn about the different factors that impact human relations in the workplace, such as diversity and inclusion, ethics, and cultural differences. By learning about these factors, students can develop a better understanding of how to navigate and manage them in the workplace.

Overall, an add-on course in Human Relations Management can equip college students with essential skills and knowledge to succeed in their future careers. These skills can also help them become effective team members, leaders, and managers in various fields, contributing to a more positive and productive work environment.

SHAHEED DUNICHAND TEJANDAS MEMORIAL TRUST COLLEGE OF ART, COMMERCE & SCIENCE.

College has organized a special seminar on "Digital Marketing". Dated 27th September 2017 Wednesday to 5th October 2017 Thursday at 11.00 am in Auditorium.

Digital marketing is a highly sought-after skill in today's job market. An add-on course in digital marketing can provide you with the knowledge and skills necessary to excel in this field. The course typically covers topics such as search engine optimization (SEO), pay-per-click (PPC) advertising, social media marketing, email marketing, content marketing, and analytics.

The SEO module of the course teaches you how to optimize a website for search engines to rank higher on the search engine results page (SERP). The PPC advertising module covers the use of Google Ads, Facebook Ads, and other advertising platforms to reach the target audience. The social media marketing module teaches you how to use social media platforms like Facebook, Instagram, Twitter, and LinkedIn to build brand awareness and engage with your audience. The email marketing module covers the use of email campaigns to promote products and services.

The course also includes a content marketing module, which teaches you how to create engaging content that attracts and retains the audience's attention. Lastly, the analytics module covers how to track and analyze data to measure the success of your digital marketing campaigns.

By completing an add-on course in digital marketing, you will acquire the necessary skills and knowledge to succeed in this field. You will be able to create and implement effective digital marketing strategies that drive traffic, engage your target audience, and boost your brand's visibility and credibility.

"HUMAN RELATION MANAGEMENT"

College has organized an Add on course of "Human Relation Management". Dated from 15th January 2018 Monday to 23rd January 2018 Tuesday by 11.00am at Classroom.

Human Relations Management is an important field that focuses on creating a positive and productive work environment. This field emphasizes the relationship between employees and management, and how it affects the overall success of an organization.

In a college setting, an add-on course on Human Relations Management can be highly beneficial for students. The course can provide students with an understanding of the importance of effective communication, teamwork, and conflict resolution in a work environment. It can also help students develop skills in leadership, decision-making, and problem-solving.

In addition, students can learn about the different factors that impact human relations in the workplace, such as diversity and inclusion, ethics, and cultural differences. By learning about these factors, students can develop a better understanding of how to navigate and manage them in the workplace.

Overall, an add-on course in Human Relations Management can equip college students with essential skills and knowledge to succeed in their future careers. These skills can also help them become effective team members, leaders, and managers in various fields, contributing to a more positive and productive work environment.

"E-COMMERCE"

College has organized an add on course on "E-COMMERCE" Dated 19th August 2019 to 27th August 2019 by 12.00pm in the Classroom.

As the world becomes increasingly digital, it is becoming more important for students to have knowledge and skills in e-commerce. E-commerce refers to the buying and selling of goods and services over the internet, and it has become a critical component of many businesses' success.

An add-on course in e-commerce would be valuable for students who are interested in pursuing careers in business, marketing, or entrepreneurship. The course could cover topics such as online marketplaces, digital marketing strategies, e-commerce platforms, and logistics and fulfillment.

Additionally, the course could provide hands-on experience with creating and managing an online store, using different tools. This would give students a practical understanding of the challenges and opportunities that come with e-commerce, and prepare them for careers in the digital economy.

Overall, an add-on course in e-commerce would be a valuable addition to any student's education, providing them with the knowledge and skills necessary to succeed in a rapidly changing business landscape.

"FINANCIAL MARKET"

College has organized an add on course on Financial & Derivative Market 6th Jan. 2020 Monday to 13th January 2020, Tuesday in the Classroom.

An add-on course for students on financial markets can provide valuable knowledge and skills for those interested in pursuing a career in finance or related fields. This course can cover various topics such as the functioning of financial markets, investment instruments, risk management techniques, and the role of regulators. Students can learn about stocks, bonds, mutual funds, and other investment vehicles, as well as how to analyze financial statements and evaluate investment opportunities. Additionally, the course can provide insight into the current market trends and how to use market data to make informed investment decisions. Overall, an add-on course on financial markets can equip students with the knowledge and skills necessary to succeed in the dynamic and constantly evolving world of finance.

An add-on course for students on the derivatives market would cover the financial instruments known as derivatives, which are contracts that derive their value from an underlying asset, such as a stock or a commodity. The course would likely cover topics such as futures contracts, options, swaps, and forward contracts, and would explore the ways in which these instruments can be used for speculation, hedging, and risk management.

Students would learn about the different types of derivatives, their uses, and their associated risks. They would also gain an understanding of the market participants, including traders, investors, and speculators, and the institutions that operate in the derivatives market, such as clearinghouses and exchanges.

The course may also delve into the mathematical and statistical models used to price derivatives and manage risk, as well as the regulatory framework governing the derivatives market. Overall, an add-on course on the derivatives market would provide students with a comprehensive understanding of a complex and important aspect of modern finance.

We also get elevated by the response of the students and benefits that our students going to receive in the future. We are also motivated to organize such seminars in the future so that our students will get benefitted by such programmes.

"GENERAL INSURANCE"

College has organized an add on course on "GENERAL INSURANCE" Dated 7th December 2020 Monday to 13th December 2020, Sunday at 11.30 am in online zoom meeting.

Insurance is an essential component of the modern economy, protecting individuals and businesses from unforeseen risks and financial losses. As a result, the insurance industry offers a wide range of career opportunities for students who are interested in finance, risk management, and customer service.

For students who want to specialize in the insurance industry, taking courses in life insurance and general insurance can be beneficial. A course on life insurance can cover topics such as policy types, underwriting, claims management, and customer service. Students can learn about the different types of life insurance policies, how to assess risk factors, and how to provide exceptional customer service.

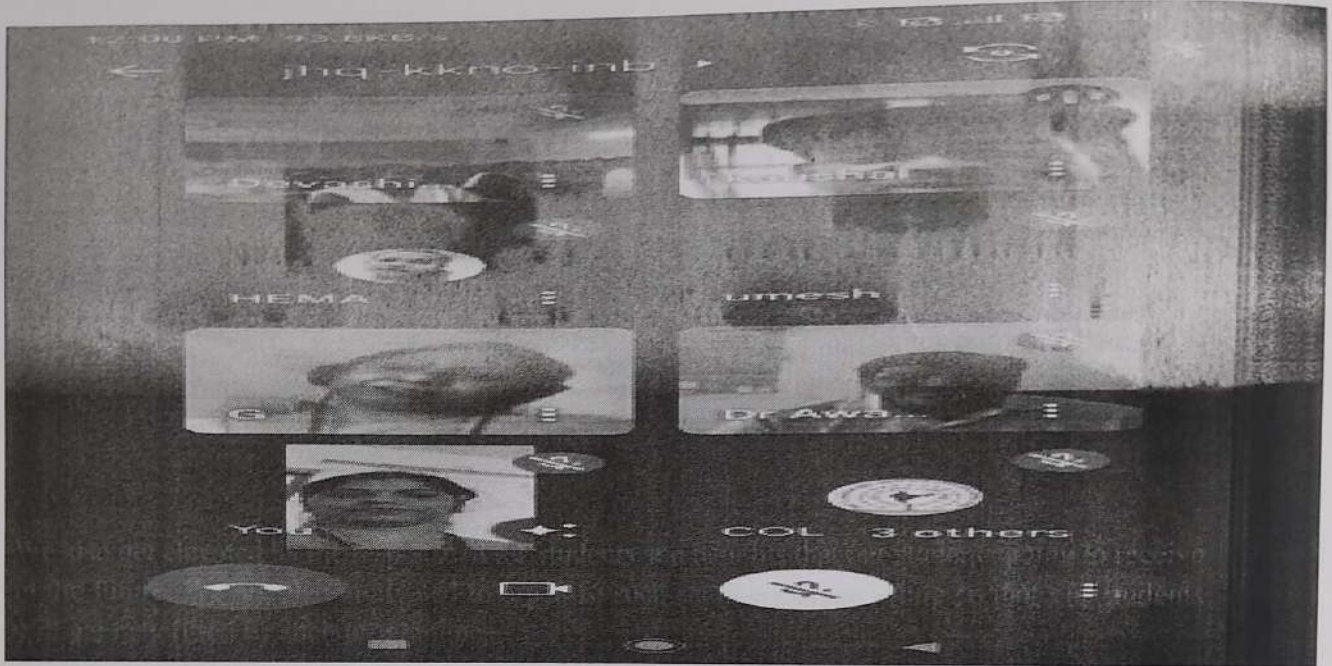

A course on general insurance can cover topics such as property insurance, liability insurance, commercial insurance, and risk management. Students can learn about the different types of insurance policies, how to assess risk factors, and how to provide coverage for businesses and individuals.

Overall, courses in life insurance and general insurance can provide students with the knowledge and skills they need to pursue a career in the insurance industry. By understanding the principles of risk management, policy underwriting, and claims management, students can help individuals and businesses protect themselves from financial losses and maintain their financial security.

As the world becomes increasingly digital, it is becoming more important for students to have knowledge and skills in e-commerce. E-commerce refers to the buying and selling of goods and services over the internet, and it has become a critical component of many businesses' success.

An add-on course in e-commerce would be valuable for students who are interested in pursuing careers in business, marketing, or entrepreneurship. The course could cover topics such as online marketplaces, digital marketing strategies, e-commerce platforms, and logistics and fulfillment.

Additionally, the course could provide hands-on experience with creating and managing an online store, using different tools. This would give students a practical understanding of the challenges and opportunities that come with e-commerce, and prepare them for careers in the digital economy.

Overall, an add-on course in e-commerce would be a valuable addition to any student's education, providing them with the knowledge and skills necessary to succeed in a rapidly changing business landscape.

"DERIVATIVE MARKET"

College has organized an add on course on Derivative Market From 2nd Feb. 2021 Tuesday to 8th Feb. 2021 Monday by online lecture.

An add-on course for students on financial markets can provide valuable knowledge and skills for those interested in pursuing a career in finance or related fields. This course can cover various topics such as the functioning of financial markets, investment instruments, risk management techniques, and the role of regulators. Students can learn about stocks, bonds, mutual funds, and other investment vehicles, as well as how to analyze financial statements and evaluate investment opportunities. Additionally, the course can provide insight into the current market trends and how to use market data to make informed investment decisions. Overall, an add-on course on financial markets can equip students with the knowledge and skills necessary to succeed in the dynamic and constantly evolving world of finance.

An add-on course for students on the derivatives market would cover the financial instruments known as derivatives, which are contracts that derive their value from an underlying asset, such as a stock or a commodity. The course would likely cover topics such as futures contracts, options, swaps, and forward contracts, and would explore the ways in which these instruments can be used for speculation, hedging, and risk management.

Students would learn about the different types of derivatives, their uses, and their associated risks. They would also gain an understanding of the market participants, including traders, investors, and speculators, and the institutions that operate in the derivatives market, such as clearinghouses and exchanges.

The course may also delve into the mathematical and statistical models used to price derivatives and manage risk, as well as the regulatory framework governing the derivatives market. Overall, an add-on course on the derivatives market would provide students with a comprehensive understanding of a complex and important aspect of modern finance.

"LIFE INSURANCE"

College has organized an add on course on " LIFE INSURANCE " Dated 22 July 2021 Thursday to 27th July 2021 Tuesday at 11.30 am in Classroom

Insurance is an essential component of the modern economy, protecting individuals and businesses from unforeseen risks and financial losses. As a result, the insurance industry offers a wide range of career opportunities for students who are interested in finance, risk management, and customer service.

For students who want to specialize in the insurance industry, taking courses in life insurance and general insurance can be beneficial. A course on life insurance can cover topics such as policy types, underwriting, claims management, and customer service. Students can learn about the different types of life insurance policies, how to assess risk factors, and how to provide exceptional customer service.

A course on general insurance can cover topics such as property insurance, liability insurance, commercial insurance, and risk management. Students can learn about the different types of insurance policies, how to assess risk factors, and how to provide coverage for businesses and individuals.

Overall, courses in life insurance and general insurance can provide students with the knowledge and skills they need to pursue a career in the insurance industry. By understanding the principles of risk management, policy underwriting, and claims management, students can help individuals and businesses protect themselves from financial losses and maintain their financial security.

"MARKETING TECHNIQUES"

College has organized an add on course "Marketing Techniques" Dated 7th October 2021 to 13th October, 2021 at the Classroom

An add-on course on marketing techniques could be extremely beneficial for students. This course could cover a variety of topics such as branding, social media marketing, email marketing, content marketing, and search engine optimization. By learning about these techniques, students would be better equipped to promote their own products or services, as well as the products or services of their future employers.

The course could also provide students with practical skills, such as creating effective marketing campaigns, conducting market research, and analyzing customer behavior. This would help them to develop a strategic approach to marketing and make informed decisions about how to allocate their marketing budget.

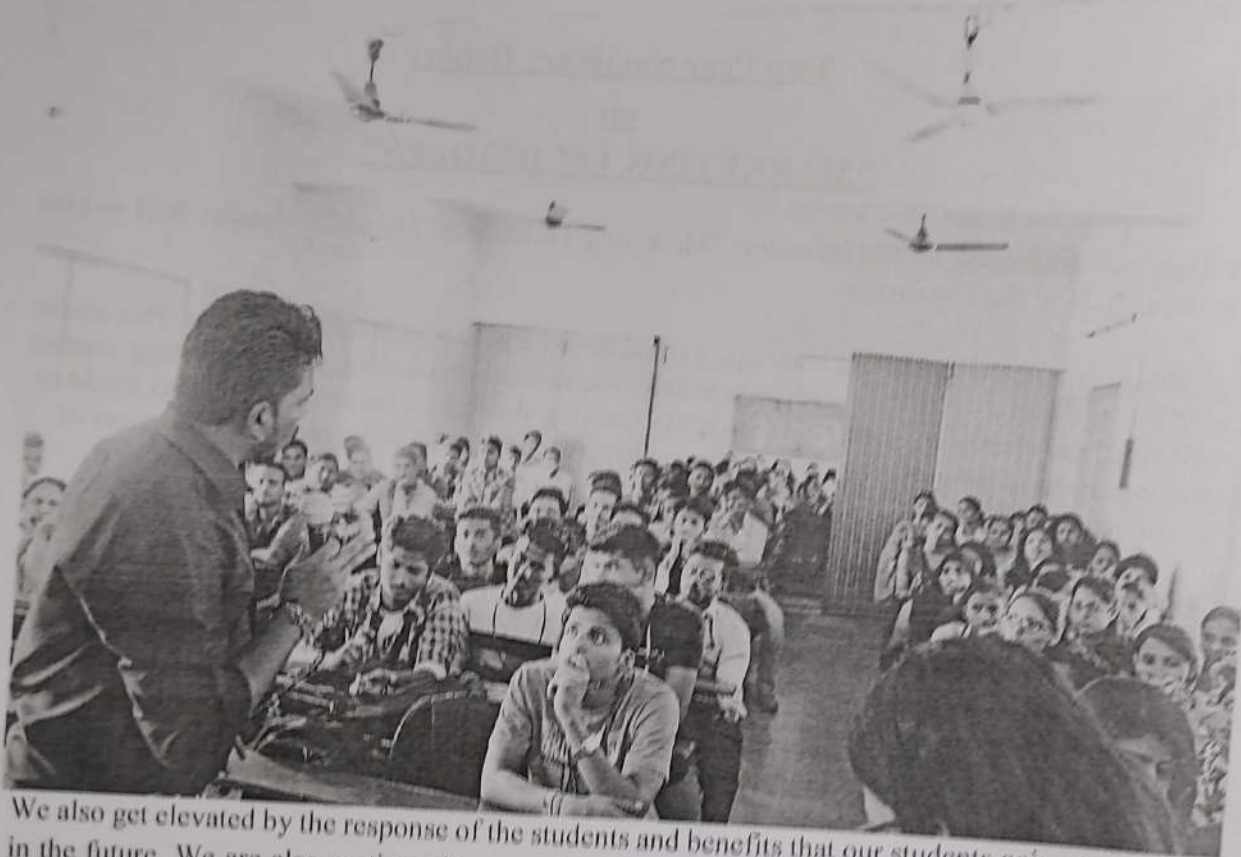

In addition, the course could include case studies of successful marketing campaigns, which would allow students to learn from real-world examples. This would help them to understand how different techniques can be applied in different contexts and how to adapt their marketing strategies to different audiences.

Overall, an add-on course on marketing techniques would be a valuable addition to any student's education, regardless of their field of study. It would provide them with essential skills and knowledge that would be useful in a wide range of industries and career paths.
